

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Cheryl B. Engelhardt is a singer/songwriter and composer. She has spoken about making a living as an independent musician at The Millennium Music Conference (MMC), South By SouthWest (SXSW), Sundance Film Festival and several universities including Cornell, UCLA, and UConn. She has been an official mentor at SXSW and MMC, and has received training as a personal coach. Cheryl has been published in Keyboard and Performer magazines and runs a music industry blog called "Living On Gigging." Cheryl has also been a finalist, judge and host for the NY Songwriter's Circle events.

Cheryl lives the life of a touring indie musician, performing all over the United States and Europe with her band; releasing three successful piano-pop records, the last of which was completely fan-funded; and placing her songs on multiple television programs and films. She is a composer for CollegeHumor.com, TV commercials, documentaries and films. Cheryl earned her degree in Music (and Biology) from Cornell University and has studied at The Juilliard School of Music.

Currently, Cheryl is based in New York City. Visit CBEmusic.com for more information and complete biography, and follow her on Twitter (@CBE) for updates and tips.

www.CBEmusic.com

www.Twitter.com/CBE

www.Facebook.com/CBEmusic

www.YouTube.com/CBEmusic